Definition of Bullying

Bullying may be defined as "Behaviour by an individual or group, usually repeated over time and on purpose, that intentionally hurts another individual or group either physically or emotionally". It is an abuse of power. It can be planned and organised, or it may be unintentional. Bullying results in pain and distress to the victim.

There is no legal definition of bullying, however, it's usually defined as behaviour that is:

- repeated
- intended to hurt someone either physically or emotionally
- often aimed at certain groups, e.g. because of race, religion, gender or sexual orientation

It takes many forms and can include:

- physical assault
- teasing
- making threats
- name calling
- cyberbullying - bullying via mobile phone or online (e.g. email, social networks and instant messenger)

Bullying can be:

- Emotional: being unfriendly, excluding, tormenting, embarrassing (e.g. hiding books, threatening gestures)
- Physical: pushing, kicking, hitting, punching or any use of violence
- Racist: Relating to race, religion or culture. Can include Racial taunts, graffiti, gestures
- Sexual/sexist: Unwanted physical contact or sexually abusive comments
- Homophobic: Abuse because of, or focussing on the issue of sexuality
- Verbal: Name calling, sarcasm, spreading rumours, teasing
- Cyber: All areas of internet, such as email and chat room misuse
Mobile threats by text messaging and calls. Misuse of associated technology, i.e. camera & video facilities

Our young people also may be vulnerable to bullying related to their Special Educational Needs, appearance or health conditions, or related to their home circumstances (they may be home carers, or looked after children).

Bullying and Autism

Children with an autism spectrum condition (ASC) have difficulty 'reading' social situations and knowing how to engage in ever-changing social contexts. They find it hard to predict other people's behaviour and to interpret their body language and expressions to guess what they are thinking or feeling. This makes it difficult for children with an ASC diagnosis to understand other people's intentions, and makes them an easy target for bullies. Because children and young people with autism may be unaware that others 'judge' their behaviour they may be especially vulnerable to bullying in the community.

Due to impairments in social understanding and imagination bullying issues are perhaps even more complex for people with ASC. For example:

- a vulnerable pupil may not recognise that they are being bullied and believe themselves to be part of the group because they are paying them attention or asking him/her to do things for them.
- a pupil with autism may become obsessional about another pupil and targets them in either a positive or negative way. Pupil A may frequently shout at pupil B not because he wants to upset him but because he is curious about pupil B's reactions.
- a pupil can make direct remarks but have no intention of causing harm. Such comments cannot be considered as bullying, but they need to be addressed so the pupil learns about the impact of their remarks and how to interact more appropriately.

- a pupil may also present behaviour of concern as their way of communicating and interacting.

We are committed to support all our young people to make positive choices, have positive interactions with peers and learn to use personalised communication techniques. Staff observe and support peer interaction and ensure that close supervision is always present.

Young people with autism may find other people's feelings difficult to engage with, or overwhelming. They may also be extraordinarily sensitive to the feelings of others to the point of overwhelm. At Endeavour Academy young people are learning about positive interactions and relationships throughout the day via modelling, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE), Personal Social Health & Economic (PSHE) lessons, Personalised Social Stories etc.

Bullying and Severe Learning Disabilities

Someone who has a severe learning disability will:

- have little or no speech
- find it very difficult to learn new skills
- need support with daily activities such as dressing, washing, eating and keeping safe
- have difficulties with social skills
- need life-long support

Young people at Endeavour are highly unlikely to have the cognitive abilities required to have the intention to cause distress to another individual over time, although they will present challenging behaviour to peers as a way of communicating their needs. Pupils are encouraged to reflect on how their behaviour may impact on others.

Bullying and Wellbeing

'Mental health is defined as a state of well-being in which every individual realises his or her potential, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully and is able to make a contribution to his or her community' (Promoting Mental Health: Concepts, Emerging Evidence Practice. World Health Organisation (WHO), 2005)

At Endeavour Academy we want to provide an environment that promotes good wellbeing, and prevention of bullying and discrimination. Bullying has a significant impact on young people's emotional wellbeing and identity.

We understand that disruptive, bullying or challenging behaviour can be a result of difficulty to express distress. We support the emotional needs of those who are bullied and who bully others.

We must respond to bullying effectively, listening to and observing young people to prevent young people from developing other coping strategies such as self-isolation or self-harm, which would affect their ability to engage in learning and their wider relationships. Due to our young people's understanding and communication difficulties staff must observe and monitor any behaviours which could be classified as bullying as well as any changes in behaviours indicating young person has been bullied.

Young people at Endeavour Academy might present behaviour of concern as their way of communicating and interacting. We are committed to support all our young people in making positive choices, have positive interactions with peers and learn to use personalised communication techniques. Staff observe and support peer interaction and ensure that close supervision is always present.

Key contacts in School

Leads who have a special interest in bullying are the safeguarding leads for school and the Trust (see Endeavour Safeguarding Policy)

8. Procedures

Why is it Important to Respond to Bullying?

Bullying hurts and can have a long term and serious impact upon a person's life and wellbeing. No one deserves to be a victim of bullying. Everybody has the right to be treated with respect. Pupils who are bullying need to be supported in order to understand their action and mend their relationships.

All educational settings have a responsibility to respond promptly and effectively to issues of bullying. At Endeavour Academy we understand that bullying may be considered a form of abuse and will be treated as a child protection/safeguarding concern. We also understand that bullying may be a criminal matter under the Protection from Harassment Act 1997, the Malicious Communications Act 1988, the Communications Act 2003, and the Public Order Act 1986.

Prevention

At Endeavour Academy we are committed to preventing bullying. We use the following methods:

- Parents/carers will be informed and, in serious cases, will be asked to come in to a meeting to discuss the problem.
- Interventions will be planned to enable pupils to recognise what bullying is and to develop strategies to overcome it.
- Short- and longer-term monitoring will be used to ensure that strategies to overcome a bullying incident have been successful.

Supporting a victim of bullying

It is essential that all individuals who have experienced bullying are provided with timely and appropriate support. This may include one or more of the following:

- active listening;
- close working with pupil's family/ guardians
- advice;
- assertiveness training;
- named pupil/ staff member to provide appropriate support;
- regular checking with the pupil regarding their wellbeing.
- working with external agencies such as LD CAHMS.
- Trauma programme (supported by external agencies)

Supporting a student (s) who present bullying behaviour

We understand that any behaviours have a reason and support is needed for both parts of a bullying incident. It is important that bullying behaviours towards other is challenged and emotional support is provided. Strategies to support pupils who present bullying behaviours towards other may include:

- Active listening
- Working closely with pupil's family/guardians
- Social stories and social groups
- Working with external providers such as LD CAHMS

Outcomes

- Where necessary interventions will be planned to help bullies to acknowledge their responsibility, to recognise the harm caused and to support them to change their behaviour.
- The student/s who have been bullying may be asked to genuinely apologise.
- If possible, the young people will be reconciled.
- All necessary steps will be taken to safeguard the victim as well as student/s who bullied other or others.
- As per our Behaviour Support Policy we will not impose a generic sanctions system for bullying incidents or other acts, instead we take a "some actions bring particular consequences" stance to support learning.
- After the incident / incidents have been investigated and dealt with, each case will be monitored to ensure repeated bullying does not recur.

9. Monitoring Compliance and Impact

We will review this policy at least once every two years, or following an incident that suggests the need for review. We will also take into account developments in technology that impact on bullying. At every review any changes will be approved by LAB.

We will monitor bullying by:

- Recording and investigating all reported incidents of bullying
- Reviewing records every half term
- Reporting on bullying to the LAB on a termly basis, or as requested

We will consider that we are succeeding if:

- Students communicate they would go to a member of staff if they were feeling unhappy or worried.
- Staff demonstrate understanding of this policy.
- Analysis of data shows a decrease in reported incidents of bullying.
